

PULLMAN PHU QUOC BEACH RESORT: AN ISLAND-INSPIRED DESIGN ON THE SOUTHWEST COAST OF PHU QUOC

Designed by Salvador Pérez Arroyo, from the air, the resort resembles a fish swimming towards the Gulf of Thailand

PHU QUOC, November 2020 – Pullman Phu Quoc Beach Resort, a Pullman's flagship resort located on the Island's southwest coast just 10 minutes from the airport, is tailor-made for those searching for serious play and a lively place to work.

Opened in August 2020, this vibrant eco-resort was designed for cosmopolitan travelers from the ground up. Spanish architect and urban planner Salvador Pérez Arroyo gave the hotel complex fluid lines and a kinetic whirl. Inspired by the lively fishing villages on Phu Quoc's shores, he skillfully crafted the ingenious pieces of buildings and landscapes. From the air, your imagination could guess the shape of a fish swimming towards the Gulf of Thailand. The hub would be the head, the pool is its body, the side wings are the fins and the main building a fantail.

Abundant resources from the sea are way too familiar to the local folks, from fishing to the current well-known fish sauce industry. For that reason, Salvador more than ever wanted to recreate the Island's iconic image, The Fish. From another angle, the buildings' shapes within the premise are like untamed waves embracing the Island's pristine beaches, which many global nomads enthuse to conquer.

Of course, the green plays a major role that blows up the vitality of this impressive design. This is no concrete jungle. Greenery or golden sand makes up 80% of the six-hectare resort. At the western edge is a 170m stretch of Long Beach, and beyond that, the endless sea and sky.

Another repeating image of the untamed sea winds is reproduced abstractly throughout the property: from the spiral staircases in the lobby to the ceiling lights in guests' rooms.

Along the southwestern coastline of Phu Quoc Island, Pullman has created a genuinely tropical playground for a new generation of global travelers. Your next adventure awaits.
